Bridge Courtesy for Bride.

The bride of Monday, Miss Hazel Davidson, was named as an especial honor guest when Mrs. Sidney Goldman and Mrs. A. S. Haber entertained in courtesy to the visitors now in the city and their hostesses.

The games of bridge concluded, it was found that Mrs. Robert Silvers had won the souvenirs for high score, two pretty Maderia handkerchiefs, and Mrs. Auerbach the consolation, a box of correspondence cards. Miss Hazel Davidson received a bottle of sachet as a reminder of the bridge compliment.

The very elaborate luncheon following the games consisted of Creole sweet bread, petit pois in ramekins, hot rolls, a relish, asparagus and lettuce salad and a fruit tart with whipped cream.

Bidden for the afternoon were the following: Misses Hazel Davidson, Miss Hortense Harris, of Dallas; Mamie Silvers and Rose Silvers of Des Moines; Pauline Frank, of Austin; Isadora Levy, of Marlin; Ray Naman, Hannah Efron; Mesdames N. D. Naman, M. Hirschfelder, Melasky, San Francisco; Fannie Naman, R. O. Silvers, Sylvan Florsheim, A. Silvers, Louis Rosenbaum, Auerbach, Simon, of Arizona; S. J. Davidson, I. ## Wedding Party Entertained.

Mrs. Sam Freund was hostess on Friday at the Raleigh hotel in honor of Miss Hazel Davidson, the bride-elect, and her wedding party.

A luncheon featuring spring flowers, with violets and daffodils the favorites, was charmingly planned and dispensed. The place cards were designed as baskets of spring flowers and at the honoree's place was a miniature bride.

Corsage bouquets of violets and jonquils were at each place and there was an exquisite cluster of flowers at Miss Davidson's place.

About the table were Misses Hazel Davidson, Pauline Frank, of Austin; Rose Silvers, of Des Moines; Hortense Harris, of Dallas; Isadore Levy, of Marlin; Mesdames S. J. Davidson, I. Friedlander, Eli Marks, of Houston; L. J. Godlove, of St. Louis; P. Jack Sanger, and the hostess.

For Visitors and Bride-Elect.

A charming courtesy of the past week was that extended by Mrs. Lawrence B. Cohen and Mrs. Isidor Block, in the latter's pretty new home on Washington avenue, honoring visitors and their hostesses and the bride-elect of the month, Miss Hazel Davidson.

George Washington's birthday was the inspiration for the decorations and favors and red roses and ferns were used in profusion. Bridge was the diversion, prize for high score a hand-decorated table cover, tied with red ribbon and artificial cherries, falling to Mrs. Leo Loewenberg of St. Joseph; Miss Hazel Davidson captured second prize, a dainty set of doily cases, also attractively tied; consolation was cut for by Mrs. Cohen of Indianapolis; this was a bottle of toilet water with cherry branch and ribbon in evidence.

A palatable two-course luncheon was served at the conclusion of the game, and herein, too, the scheme of decoration was carried out. Plate favors were individual almond cups in patriotic colors.

Those present included: Mesdames Cohen of Indianapolis, Simon of Arizona, Loewenberg of St. Joseph, Godlove of St. Louis, Mulasky of Taylor, Silvers of California, Rosenbaum, Robt. Silvers, N. D. Mrs. Eli Marks and sons of Houston are the guests of Mr. and Mrs. S. Marks on North Fifth.

Miss Sadie Novich entertained the Y. W. H. A. on Sunday. A talk by Rabbi Macht was very much enjoyed. The girls decided to give an indoor picnic in March and invitations will be sent to their friends out of the city. It was also decided at this meeting that the society would undertake literary work. After the business meeting, a social hour was enjoyed. Misses Annie Genecov and Gertie Novich were successful at bunco and were awarded pretty favors. Miss Novich served delicious cream and cake to her guests.

B'nai B'rith Celebrates 70th Anniversary Here.

The seventieth anniversary of the Independent Order of B'nai B'rith was celebrated Sunday by the Houston lodge with exercises at Temple Beth Israel, consisting of addresses and program of music.

Dr. Emil W. Leipziger, rabbi of Touro Synagogue, New Orleans, was the principal speaker. The services were marked by a patriotic attitude, as seen when the audience sang "America."

The musical program opened with an organ solo, followed by the song, "March of the Torches," by Mrs. Lora H. Nelson. A vocal solo was given by Rev. R. Kaplan, with Professor Pillow as piano accompanist. A violin solo was given by Miss Pauline Maxine Lemmons, and Miss Corrine Keller sang a solo.

Since the organization of the order in New York in 1843, with only 12 charter members, it has grown to a membership of 50,000 with 11 district grand lodges and 500 local lodges. The order was formed by the charter members who forsook allegiance to Germany and came to this country.

Many charitable organizations are maintained by B'nai B'rith, in which old persons as well as children are cared for.

Picturesque Singer Proves Possessor of Rare Vocal Powers.

Josef Rosenblatt, the distinguisher cantor-tenor, who refused to sing for the Chicago Grand Opera Association at $1,000 a night, appeared last evening at Beethoven Hall, under the patronage of the Mazart Society. He was greeted by a large and enthusiastic audience. Aside from the fact that he is the possessor of rare vocalistic powers, the picturesque cantor in his long black robe and cap and flowing black beard make him a unique figure on the concert stage. His lower tones are full and rich and vibrant and clear in their middle registers, while his high notes soar to amazing heights. To these are added a touch of falsetto, which is astonishing.

Cantor Rosenblatt's program was made up largely of Hebrew liturgical music, which created a profound impression, especially upon those who are not of his faith, and to whom the tones of lament of the Hebrew music were new. And it was in these numbers that his art was most pleasing. "Zaroh Chayo" (Tribute to the Living Children) and "Ov Harachmin" (Father of Mercy), composed by Rosenblatt, really were improvisations of intense feeling, improvising being part of a cantor's art. His accompanist, Stuart Ross, displayed rare skill in these numbers, following the singer through all his tonal whims.

Following the insistent cries from the audience of "Eilli, Eilli," the cantor responded with this Yiddish song, which is a favorite in every Jewish household. The literal translation of "Eilli, Eilli" is "Oh God, Oh God, Why Hast Thou Forsaken Me?" It is a song which is sung in Jewish homes, not in the synagogues. As an encore, he gave "A Heim" (My Home), a Yiddish folk song. The other numbers with the exception of the aria from "Aida," Denza's "Flower Song," religious numbers were sung in Hebrew.

The wedding of S. G. Cohen of Jeffersonville, Ind., and Miss Bernice Alexander took place in the oak room of the St. Anthony Hotel, Rabbi Samuel Marks of Temple Beth El read the marriage service, which was preceded by the song, "All For You," sung by Mrs. Mose Holland, accompanied by Miss Jennie Phillips.

The bride was given in marriage by her father, M. Alexander, and was attended by Miss Minnie Hirsch. Milton Linheid of Jacksonville, Ind., was the best man. The bride wore a Lucile model of white chiffon and victory crepe and carried a shower bouquet of roses and sweet peas. Miss Hirsch wore a pink taffeta frock and carried a colonial bouquet of pink sweet peas. Mrs. M. Alexander, the bride's mother, wore dark blue Georgette crepe, beaded with blue and silver, with corsage bouquet of violets.

An eight course supper followed the ceremony, the table being adorned with pink and white blossoms. Later Mr. and Mrs. Cohen left for Independence, Kan., where they will be at home after March 1. The bride's traveling suit was of navy blue tricotine.

Rosenblatt Guest at Dinner.

Cantor Josef Rosenblatt, the famous Jewish tenor, was the guest of honor at a banquet tendered him by the Hebrew Institute, at its home on Main Avenue. Meyer Schmalack acted as toastmaster and addresses were made by Senator Harry Hertzberg, Dr. L. J. Manhoff and Dr. S. Burg. Cantor Rosenblatt responded with a brief acknowledgment and later favored the audience with several solos.

Mr. and Mrs. H. Alexander announce the marriage of their daughter, Bernice, to Mr. Sultan G. Cohen on Wednesday, Feb. 18.
